Francine:

Your reply letter of 2/25 requires an answer. You came to my home with two strangers. You were greeted warmly, however you never introduced me to the couple with you. Let us leave it at that. When I was told to keep my thoughts for the Sunday meeting, you never heard another peep out of me.

Your note to the Ruskins and me, advising us of exclusion of second story add-on is good news. Therefore, I am going to assume you will not be moving the meeting to my home.. My wife is ill and bedridden, and I would prefer that she not be pressured.

Now here is what is very important. Your e-mail to all homeowners in the three tracts, stated that there are five variance requests, but you and/or the board never communicated to the homeowners what the variances are. If you want worthwhile participation from the homeowners at the meeting, why are you so reluctant to tell us what are the variance requests that you and the board identified. Should not all homeowners, whether they come to the meeting, or not, be told what violations you might want to approve. I believe more people would show up at the meeting knowing all the facts that are important. Your reply to me avoided giving me the answer to this very question. Once more, kindly inform me and all homeowners before the meeting.

I am sorry that your health is not improving. You must love this work. You have been at it for a long while, and you mean well. You are spoken of highly. Regards, Hal
